MUTINY AT SPITHHEAD.

Drifter Seizes Marines to Secure On.

On board a Russian sailing vessel, recently lying at Spithead Roads, England, there has been a mutiny of the crew, which has resulted in the capture of the ship. The vessel is the "Traveller," an English-built ship, and was on her way from London to the West Indies. The mutiny was the result of the crew's dissatisfaction with the captain's treatment of them. The crew has seized the captain and the ship's stores, and has taken the ship to sea.

WHAT THE KIDNEYS DO.

WHAT DOOTH KIDNEY PILLS
ARE DOING FOR BELLEVILLE, ILL., PEOPLE.

All the blood in the body passes through the kidneys, every three minutes. If the kidneys are weak, the blood is impure, and the impure blood is the cause of all the diseases of the body. The kidneys are the great filters of the blood, and if they are weak, the blood is impure, and the impure blood is the cause of all the diseases of the body.

Counting the Reserve.

George Barker, the newly appointed cashier of the National Bank, was sitting at his desk, looking over the accounts of the day. He was a young man, full of energy and ambition, and he was determined to make a name for himself in the banking world.

THE INDIVIDUAL EAR.

Stop and Consider This Easy Way to Lose on a Coin Toss.

What constitutes an ideal ear? This question has been asked by many people, and the answer is not as simple as it seems. The ear is a complex organ, and it is the individual ear that determines the success or failure of a coin toss.

A GLIMPSE OF ANGIER

When Elspeth was a little girl, she had been taken once to Scotland to see the place where she was born, but she had not willingly have changed hers (which was attractive, even in a greenish lodging house mirror, with a crack across the middle) for that.

"Good morning. Is there?" she had begun as usual, when the young woman, with the expression of a

"The manager will see you in her private room," she said, with a nod toward the door, succeeded instantly for a flabber of discovery.

A small boy in livery, sitting by the door in question, knocked, mentioned the name of Miss Dean, and after a rumour from some one unseen, invited Elspeth to pass through.

"Ah, Miss Dean, it's you, is it? I was expecting you," she remarked. "You generally come in about this time. You mustn't come like this."

"Now, now would you like to go up to Scotland, and be a kind of secretary in a big Hydrol?"

Elspeth's gray eyes opened. She had dreamed of nothing more exciting.

"You'll have to go first class, Miss,"

"But they won't let me, and I can't afford"—she had begun, when the porter broke in reassuringly:

"That's all right, Miss; they'll have to let you. There's no room in the thirds or seconds, and they're bound to carry you."

"I should like it, I think," she said with creditable calmness. "Exactly what would I have to do?"

Well, it's not quite an ordinary secretarial position," replied Miss Smith. "You would have to take down the manager's letters from dictation, of course. Let me see, what's your

"I used to work from my brother's station. He could hardly speak too fast for me."

"One doesn't lose one's head with his brother. When I was with strangers, and a great many strangers at whose neck and call you'd have to be, you'd find it different."

"Frankly, I do think you too inexperienced, but you seem a quick-witted fellow."

QUEBEC TERCENTENARY.

Will Be a Valuable Civic Lesson in History.

The jubilee which will be a feature of the Quebec tercentenary, will be a valuable civic lesson in the North American continent. From the records of the past century history have been reproduced, an illustration of this was the appearance of the Chicago World's half of 1903, which called to the attention of the world the exploits of the city of the Great West. A pageant, however, in the sense in which the word is usually understood, is the representation of a series of events which have taken place in the history of the actual spot where the pageant is held. The pageant of this kind is not only a valuable lesson in history, but it is also a valuable lesson in the history of the world. The pageant has sprung into popularity in the last few years, and it has celebrated the history of a university, a city, a nation, and a world. It is a history which ranges from the scientific revolution to the present day. It is a history which ranges from the scientific revolution to the present day. It is a history which ranges from the scientific revolution to the present day.

THE DUCKING STOOL.

How a "Stool" Used to be Punished in Old England.

It is interesting to picture a picture of a "ducking" as practiced in England at the end of the eighteenth century.

The "stool" had been properly tried and convicted, and was now being used by a crowd of parishioners. In fact, by the whole village, the "stool" pool, and the greener and sinner the more was the "stool" used. It was produced, at one end of which was the "stool" and at the other end was the "stool" and the "stool" was being used by a crowd of parishioners.

The chair and the plank was then placed over the edge of the pool, and it was then that the "stool" was used. The "stool" was then placed over the edge of the pool, and it was then that the "stool" was used. The "stool" was then placed over the edge of the pool, and it was then that the "stool" was used.

The Olympic Games
Comes to the Art.
The Athletes to Be Reviewed by Royalty To-day

Competitors Are Present From All Parts of the Globe
Royal Parade This Morning—King Edward to Declare the Great Stadium Open—Over Ninety Thousand Spectators Provided For.

London, July 13.—Athletes from 30 countries are gathered in London for the Olympic games, which open today, and which it is believed will prove the greatest spectacle of modern times. The competitors from all four corners of the globe constitute a small army in themselves, almost every country, following the example of America and Great Britain, having entered in the various events. The full gamut of men allowed by the rules, in most cases, a mere dozen.

There are 25 events on the program, the number of athletes taking part total nearly 5,000. Many of the men, of course, representing their respective countries in more than one event.
 The opening day, the formal exercises, including a parade of the athletes before the king, will be held in the afternoon. Some of the preliminaries will then be run off, including the first heat of the 1,500 metre race.

In the parade, which will be the largest of its kind ever held, the representatives of the various countries will form into groups, according to the sports in which they are competing, and will carry their national banners.
 The parade will be held at 2:00 p.m. The stadium will seat 60,000 spectators, and there is room for 12,000 more without seats.

By making use of a strip surrounding the stadium, standing room can be found for 50,000 additional. There are three athletic tracks, a swimming tank, and a hurdle racing, the elder path for running, and the younger, for the hurdle racing.
 One last word about the stadium. It has been pronounced the best in England. The stadium is built on a hill, and is built on a hill, and is built on a hill.

The athletes will be reviewed by the king and queen, and the members of the British royal family and most of the foreign ambassadors and ministers in London.

WORLD'S USTRICH SUPPLY.

Removing the Feathers is Not a Painful Operation.

The world's total supply of ostriches is now said to be about 500,000 birds. All but 20,000 of these are in Africa, the native country of the biggest ostrich.

The stock is not decreasing, for it is not so difficult to breed as it is to raise. The ostrich is not a good feeder, for it is not so difficult to breed as it is to raise. The ostrich is not a good feeder, for it is not so difficult to breed as it is to raise.

TIMELY TOPICS

HOW TO KILL A CHURCH.

Any timely topic has been offered as a method or dream whereby by church and church work may be destroyed, but here is a minister telling how the failure may be accomplished.

Don't sing.
 Don't kneel.
 Don't encourage your pastor.
 Don't attend prayer meeting.
 Never submit to the majority.
 Never bring or invite anyone.
 Discourage all benevolent work.
 Let your pastor do all the work.
 If you have no strife stir up one.
 Never give anything to your church.
 Accept committee work, but don't do it.
 Never pay for your pastor or church.
 Don't come to Sabbath school; it is for children.
 Be sure that the pastor's salary is always behind.
 Go to church service not to worship but to find fault.
 Oppose anything everything that your church never had before.
 Make a pastor visit you once a week to create an imaginary worry or need.
 Don't tell your pastor that his last sermon inspired you; it might make him vain.
 If some show a willingness to work and pray and pay, accuse them of selfish ambition.
 Tell your pastor's laity to adhere, persistently to those who are about to unite with your church.
 Never allow the hymn book to the "Victory" hymn book; hymns are about to unite with your church.
 Cause him to be might come again.

DON'T GIGGLE, GIRLS.

Needing More Infectious and Charming Than a Good Laugh.

If half the girls here knew what they looked and sounded when they giggled, they would stop it.

Leading to more infectious and charming than a good laugh, but they are in life as it is on the stage.

A fellow usually comes from some other place. He will giggle when he is in a "cloudy" mood. She is only nervous, but she should be.

She will giggle when a boy meets her. Give "Good morning" and she will giggle when he says "Good-bye".

It is no wonder that young men speak with upper coars of the giggling girls. They need to be taught to be attractive make up on earth. If they refused to attempt to sell any more of their goods to a girl who will purchase her every article with a giggle.

It is not always possible to know what a girl is thinking. She is not a book. She is not a girl who you can read. She is not a girl who you can read.

For better or evil. You may then get the girl who you want. She will giggle when you are with her. She will giggle when you are with her.

She will giggle when you are with her. She will giggle when you are with her. She will giggle when you are with her.

A SAILOR BOO.

Story of Bill That Made His Home on a Ship.

Many years ago the whaling ship Diana was returning from a voyage in the Arctic ocean her captain and crew were in a state of great exhaustion after a long voyage.

There were no more than 200 miles away, so the sailor was quite unexpected.

With great excitement the sailor was caught, and after receiving a warm welcome he was taken to the traveler would require it was offered.

His liberty again, but though through some misunderstanding he was refused to leave the ship. With food and comfort it was offered to the sailor, but he refused to accept it.

The coffee is brewed, and according to precedent is sent to the bride's house the day before. After the coffee is made for the wedding feast the sack is carefully sealed and sent to the bride's house. The young couple and should keep it in their home for a year. After the wedding both bride and bridegroom have the uthir gift of coffee which they have shared. The bride's mother and father, as far as one necessary is concerned, Few people know that the coffee which is brewed grain of coffee is the better the grain. Like wine, it grows with age. The coffee which is brewed in the morning following under proper conditions will cost from $1.50 to $2.00 per pound. The giving of pounds of green coffee is a common practice in the coffee belt. Friends and relatives give gifts and compare notes. When the bride's mother is asked to give a gift of coffee it frequently is the case that ten pounds of the best grain are packed in a sack and sent to the bride's house. The gift is made with directions that it must be brewed and served at the wedding.

mind, and the more, and the more they tried to find out, the more they were convinced that there was a ghost in the castle. They had seen the ghost, they had heard the ghost, they had felt the ghost, and they were sure that it was real.

But Elsie, the very brave girl, was not so easily frightened. She was not so easily frightened as the others, and she was not so easily frightened as the others. She was not so easily frightened as the others, and she was not so easily frightened as the others.

Late in the afternoon Grant spoke to her for the first time that day, and she was not so easily frightened as the others. She was not so easily frightened as the others, and she was not so easily frightened as the others.

"Mr. McGowan has asked me to go to the castle for the first time that day, and she was not so easily frightened as the others. She was not so easily frightened as the others, and she was not so easily frightened as the others.

"When she came to the castle, she was not so easily frightened as the others. She was not so easily frightened as the others, and she was not so easily frightened as the others.

"The castle was not so easily frightened as the others. It was not so easily frightened as the others, and it was not so easily frightened as the others.

"The castle was not so easily frightened as the others. It was not so easily frightened as the others, and it was not so easily frightened as the others.

"The castle was not so easily frightened as the others. It was not so easily frightened as the others, and it was not so easily frightened as the others.

"The castle was not so easily frightened as the others. It was not so easily frightened as the others, and it was not so easily frightened as the others.

"The castle was not so easily frightened as the others. It was not so easily frightened as the others, and it was not so easily frightened as the others.

"The castle was not so easily frightened as the others. It was not so easily frightened as the others, and it was not so easily frightened as the others.

"The castle was not so easily frightened as the others. It was not so easily frightened as the others, and it was not so easily frightened as the others.

One Cent Brings It

WOULD-YOU-LIKE-TO-READ-THIS-STORY OF THE FURNACE?

—Just how correct providence may be—
—how like fate to be commiserated?

—Just why no other plan of consumption will do—

—Just wherefore that ability to be easy in rest, quick in action, simple in operation?

The story is briefly told in a little booklet called "The Furnace." It is not a number journal. The Furnace is mentioned, and you can see the whole story of the Furnace.

To the party contemplating purchasing a furnace it points out the weak and places, and shows exactly what to demand of an architect, contractor or dealer, in furnace construction and installation.

BABY BEEF.
Profit in it is Quickly Made, as Properly Finished.

To raise baby beef profitably it is absolutely necessary to have calves of the best type. They must possess the ability to put on flesh in the right spots—that is, they should be well developed where the most expensive cuts are to be found. Then, too, they must have the power to mature early. The majority of animals cannot be put into that condition at the desired age. Early maturity is a characteristic of the animals bred from, and particularly should the sire selected for this purpose be of this type.

The growing time in an animal's life is the time at which to feed it, as it has been proved time and again that

BUILDING THE SILO.

The building of a silo is of a great deal of importance, and before it is undertaken a man should investigate thoroughly the principles relating to the construction of low structures of this kind. One of the early mistakes was to build silos too large in diameter and too small in height. This resulted in getting very little pressure on the sludge, which permitted the air to get in and caused the silage to be of poor quality. "Wherever air can touch the silage," says the writer, "it will do so, and attach themselves to the moist surface of the sludge, and the vapors in the head in height." This resulted in silage that caused putrefaction or molding. If the silage is very green the silage will be of poor quality, and if it is white if the silage is old—that is, made from mature corn—the silage will be of better quality. The silage will be of better quality. The first thing, therefore, a farmer must decide on is to have sufficient height to his silo, so that the pressure on the underlying

The plows, the drags, and hoes,
And how I used to follow you,
The long, wad-shouldered rows.
I remember, I remember, a hundredweight can be added there is a loss that can be avoided by feeding the milk on the same animal at maturity," writes J. Hugh McKinnley in Fur and Furskinn. For the first two weeks each calf should have a quart of whole milk three times a day. After the third week taken to feed it at blood temperature. During the next three weeks half a quart of skim milk should be added to the whole milk at each meal. When the calf is three weeks old it should be so developed that feeding twice a day will be sufficient, also dispensing with the whole milk and giving about three quarts of skim milk twice a day.

Some farmers feed a quart of whole milk a meal, and mix the whole milk with milk a small amount of fаззеек (fat) meal is used. It may be prepared in the proportion of a cupful of meal to one and one-half quarts of water poured into a large stone kettle and kept at a temperature just below boiling for three or four hours, which reduces the meal to a kind of jelly. This is mixed properly cut silage, develop a great deal of lateral pressure. This forces the silage out against the sides of the silo and packs it so firmly against the walls that air cannot get in. The plan is to build a silo not less than thirty feet in height and generally not less than sixteen feet in diameter. If the silos are built small in diameter, they become expensive, as a silo eight feet in diameter would cost a great deal more per ton of capacity than one sixteen feet wide. These dimensions are being quite widely followed in the construction of many silos. The diameter beyond sixteen feet must depend upon

The second summer is perhaps the best time to wean the calf. The animal intended for early brood experience has shown that there is no harm in weaning the calf on pasture or outside, so far as gains in live weight is concerned, the latter method will give the best results. However, inside it is absolutely necessary that the ration consist of a certain proportion of hay, and that the calf be encouraged to eat hay. The best technique will answer this purpose, but does not seem to have the same effect on the calf's appetite for hay. One of all the gross mistakes with which the calf raiser is confronted is to wean with a little clover or alfalfa hay and the most entitle. All things considered, the best method is to wean the calf out about the first of June, pasturing him to keep them on good pasture and to encourage them to eat hay.

A CONCRETE SILE.

the side of the bird. The larger the bird the larger must be the diameter of the silo.

For myself, I believe that any one handling heavy loads of corn or grain can well afford to sit, writes a dairyman in Rural New Yorker.

Perhaps to the small dairyman or stock raiser the difficulties that stand in the way of silos are imaginary rather than real. First in order, perhaps, is the cost of the silo, and, secondly, the expense of erecting it. But a good silo that will last for a number of years can be erected at a nominal cost. Every farmer should be able to do his own cementing and thus make his own silo foundation; also perhaps his silo pile to erect it. This would naturally lessen the first cost of silo.

As regards the kind of silo to erect, one can recommend a good concrete

New Order in Council.

With a view to restricting emigration from India to Canada an order-in-council has been passed making it compulsory that every Indian immigrant eighteen years of age or over should have in his possession the sum of at least $500 on landing in Canada.

It is understood that the regulation is made with the consent of the British Government. Although as a return of Mr. Macdonnell King from England and the action of the Indian authorities in discouraging any further emigration of Hindus to this country, the Government has practically stopped, the Government has found that there is still a lophophore or two by which Hindia, attracted by stories of high wages in British Columbia, might still get into Canada.

the time, especially with the occurrence of frosty nights, and given a feed of silage and clover hay in addition to the grass and meal. In October they should be put on a regular ration. Steers that have been fed properly up to eighteen or twenty months of age should be getting about one-half pound of meal per hundred pounds of weight and one-half acre of clover that where they are sold they will be getting nearly a pound of meal to a hundred pounds live weight of the animal.

Dilator Milking Machine.
An Ohio inventor has secured a patent for a new dilator milking machine. When the machine has been adjusted to the cow's udder and the teat openings or ducts have been tested by means of the dilators to form artificial openings, the milk, it is said, flows openings thus forced to a much more natural manner than by the use of the swing milking machine.

In a recent test fourteen quarters of milk, it is said, were drawn from a cow by this machine, the same being applied, operated and required in six and one-half minutes. Each machine is complete in itself, requiring no additional or power pump, as in the case of the pneumatic milkers.

According to the description, but the use of no attention is required once the adjustment is made until the cow is milked dry.

Feeding Cows.

Cows of a divided dairy type will require the greatest food when fed to their full capacity—Nebraska Experiment Station.

to save the pig's skin on corn, as pigs do not feed on the corn, but will pay you for the pigskin. It will pay you for the pigskin to the pig and let him do the marketing. It will pay you for the straw or any straw that will do for bedding. It will pay you for the straw that will make good manure for the farm. Each individual animal is a separate business. It is a business that you only when this machine is a profitable one.—Joseph H. Lerick.

Cleanliness in the Dairy.

To produce clean and wholesome cream is the first and most vital one in milk, and to do this is the cleanest and the most important. It is clean, dry, uniform, clean, pure, clean, and wholesome feed and that the cows be clean and the milk be clean. It is the best result it is important that the cows be kept comfortable at all times.

Health of the Herd.

The dairy herd should include no rich animal, and especially none showing any signs of disease. It is of great importance to the dairyman to have no animal or other trouble attending with parturition or with mammals, and to have no animal or other disease, zoonosis, fever or any febrile disease.

St. James Pliny Whitney, Sir Lomur Gouin and Sir
J. G. Garmou and Sir John Hanbury Williams Are Made Knights of Victoria Order—Others Are Honored—Messages From Notables to World Over.
Quebec, July 24.—Samuel de Champlain was specially and acutely honored in the ceremonies of the threnody celebration yesterday, and Ottawa participated in the reception of a knighthood by its Premier, now
Sir James Pliny Whitney.
The honor of knighthood conferred was conferred on the Premier, who in the afternoon at the Citadel.
The first public intimation was given to the press representative by Sir James himself at a meeting of the ceremonies at the Chateau museum.
"Knighthood," he said, "was conferred on Major Garmou, on Premier Gouin and on the Premier of Ontario, apart from the fact that I have much," he remarked later in the day, and when the way it has been accomplished in Canada between the two cities.
The military parade through the streets yesterday morning was a spectacle which had something in it stirring effect, by reason of the unexpectedness of the thronging, which included the men to march in force throughout, but nevertheless it was an interesting demonstration of the strength of the army equipped about the ancient fortress.
Early in the morning the crash of the cannon, which was the signal of the military parade, was heard in the streets of the city.

Workingmen's Suits

An extensive experience in the Clothing business has taught us just what sort of suit is most popular with the workingman. We sell suits of the Workingmen's Patrons the sort of suits that will cause them to come here for clothes and to tie to us.

The fabrics are chosen for neatness in appearance combined with strength and durability. The cut of garments is easy and in keeping with style.

The tailoring is exceptionally strong with double strength given to all points when the strain comes.

Workingmen's Suits

Bridge Street's New Pastor Shook Hands With His People.

Pleasant and Profitable Function in Belleville's Premier Metho dist Church Last Night.

At Bridge street church last evening, Rev. Geo. E. Bishop, D.D., the newly-appointed pastor of that church, was formally received by the congregation. On Thursday evening the Rev. gentleman and his family, who are living at the parsonage, returned here to take up his pastoral duties. The reception last night was well attended by members of the congregation, and the impression made by the new pastor was most favorable. He comes to the city highly recommended and will no doubt be successful in his ministrations here as he has been in other fields of labor.

In the absence of Mr. Mackintosh himself, who was to have presided over the gathering, Mr. Henry Strickland was chosen chairman and filled that position most acceptably. He gave a brief and eloquent address explaining the object of the gathering.

An address of welcome was read to Dr. Bishop and his family on behalf of the ladies of the congregation.

The second address was one held at the Official Board of that church and this was presented by Mr. Wm. Johnson.

To these addresses Dr. Bishop replied most appropriately his address being well received.

Mr. C. B. Scantlebury, in a few well chosen remarks, referred to Mr. Bishop's visit to Belleville during the past month, here regarding the past and doing justice to his services, were highly complimentary.

Mr. Bishop, who has been in Belleville for some time, was referred to the fact that whatever service he had rendered had been in a labor of love.

At the conclusion of the speech making the new pastor and his wife were introduced to those present and at a short time most agreeably sang spiritual hymns.

During the evening the church members were given by Mr. Bishop, J. L. H. and Mrs. J. H. Bishop.

Very Hard Times In South Africa.

Things Have Not been So Bad, It
Is Said, in Twenty-Seven Years.

Letters received from South Africa show that, though some people complain about conditions in Canada, they are not nearly so bad as in "the land of the double cross." A letter from a man in Kimberley says that within the last twelve months, there have been going from bad to worse. The Duffers Co. have paid off, between two and three thousand white and Indian laborers, and moreover they have also paid off seventeen thousand natives. There is a great suffering among the white population, and the natives are in a dire straits. It is that it is mid-winter over there.

At present wages have been reduced ten per cent and the unemployed men have had to beg. The unemployed men have had to beg. The unemployed men have had to beg. The unemployed men have had to beg.

SAMPSON'S STRENGTH WILL NOT RESIST THE PULLING DOWN INFLUENCE OF A KID- NEY ACHING BACK.

The strongest man or woman with a back constantly aching finds daily evidence of a struggle. For the man may win many trophies, his back will be aching. For the woman, her back will be aching.

PAINFUL ACCIDENT TO PRINCE EDWARD MAN.

(Hartford Times) Wednesday afternoon, Mr. Gifford Stevens, of Greenwich, had the misfortune to break his left arm. He recently purchased a throwing outfit and was giving it a preparatory test at his own premises to get it into good working shape for the coming season. Somehow, while working around it, making adjustment, his arm came in contact with one of the pieces with the result.

Literary Notes.

ABOUT MARY MAN'S APPROPRIATE period for holiday reading, and possessing a nice balance between the gay and the serious, the August number of Mary Man's Magazine will be found with welcome interest by the reader. It contains a number of stories, a number of poems, and a number of essays. The magazine is published by the Mary Man Publishing Co., New York.

There is also a generous installment of health, readable matter in the August issue of Mary Man's, which is admirably illustrated and presents an especially attractive appearance.

DO YOU PAINT ?

If you do you want good paint and we have it. If you do not you want more person to paint who can paint. We have the men as well as the materials. Competent workmen who work after our system, which has been perfected by study and experience.

We do not recommend Ready Prepared Paints any more than we would recommend a blacksmith for your dentistry. Strong comparisons, but none too strong.

Ready Prepared Paints on the market to-day are a worthless lot of trash, mixed with cheap oil and little lead. Mixed with lead oil, benzine, fish oil, and what else it is difficult to say. No wonder your painting has not lasted if you have used Ready Prepared Paint. We mix every gallon of Paint we use or know it out.

We did for a year handle Ready Prepared Paints and the best line on the market as far as we knew, but no unsatisfactory work we knew it out. Remember us for paint when it is paint you want. Our workmen and materials will not cost you any more than the good kind—No so much.
